PAYMENT TERMS

Payment of the Full Fee must be made on receipt of MediaXchange's invoice as follows:

Payment of the fee confirming you will be taking your place in the Exchange must be made by direct bank wire transfer within 10 working days of the date of MediaXchange's invoice.

Any payments made by credit card will incur an unavoidable, additional 5% extra service charge to cover the cost of the credit card transaction. In order to comply with financial data regulations, a MediaXchange representative will arrange to call you to request the credit card information and process the payment of the deposit; we will not keep any record of your credit card information after this transaction is processed.

Once the date 12 calendar weeks prior to the start date of an Exchange has been reached, payment of the total Exchange fee, or settlement of any remaining balance of the fee, must be made in full immediately by direct bank wire transfer to the MediaXchange account details listed in the invoice.

Late payment: Under the late payment commercial debts (Interest) Act 1998, we are entitled to charge interest on late payments at a rate of equivalent to 8% above the Bank of England base rate from the date our terms elapse.

If full payment (or proof of wire transfer) is not received 12 calendar weeks prior to the start of the Exchange then either your credit card will be charged for the outstanding amount, plus a 5% charge to cover the cost of the credit card transaction, or you will be notified that payment must be made immediately in order to avoid cancellation of your participation in the Exchange.

Please refer to the separate documents: MediaXchange's Terms and Conditions, Brochure and Application Form for this Exchange to confirm full details of what your fee will include.

APPLICANT AGREEMENT

Please forward your completed, signed documents including the three written references, to us via email at london@mediaxchange.com, as well as a hard copy by mail to MediaXchange, 1 Noel Street, London W1F 8GA. Safe receipt of your application will be acknowledged within 2 working days. If you have not received this acknowledgement within this time, please resubmit your email and call MediaXchange's London office on +44 207 734 2310 to confirm safe receipt.

Application Deadlines:

Your application must reach us before end of April 15th, 2020 and include all the documentation and information required by the Application Packet. If you do not hear from us by May 1st 2020, we regret that your application has not been selected for this year, but we hope you will reapply for a future Exchange.

We would like to keep you advised about MediaXchange's future calendar of events. By ticking this box, you actively consent to MediaXchange keeping you informed about our future calendar of events, by phone, email and post.

WOMEN WRITERS TO LOS ANGELES - APPLICATION FORM

Application Deadline: April 15, 2020

Exchange Dates: Monday, June 22 - Friday, June 26, 2020

Before completing the Application Form, please be sure to read the 2020 Brochure, the Application Form, with Important Information section, and the Terms and Conditions as they provide the requirements on criteria and terms.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION FOR APPLICANTS AND REFEREES (Section 3 of 4)

The Exchange will provide selected applicants with the following:

- ↔ an advanced level of professionalism to be gained from the comparison and examination of writing, show and development practices
- ↔ the sharing of knowledge through direct access to successful US writers, producers, directors and executives
- ↔ enabling participants to have greater insight into the US creative process
- ↔ exposure to international drama coproducers currently represented or based in LA
- ↔ provide different models of essential creative and collaborative skills
- ↔ sourcing of potential development and production opportunities
- ↔ informing participants on how to take their place with confidence within a show's creative team.

Consideration of applicants for the Exchange is based on the following criteria:

Applicants will provide two written references.

- ✓ each reference should relate directly to the candidate's suitability for the Exchange
- ✓ references must be from those currently working in the drama writing, development, producing, commissioning, directing sectors of the industry and provide each referee's contact details, current role, show or company
- ✓ one referee must take on the role of nominating the applicant and confirm the applicant's suitability for the Exchange
- ✓ both referees will be supporting the application and providing their knowledge of the applicant's experience

Applicant's credits and experience:

This is not an entry level programme. It is for writers who have already achieved a certain level of experience and are seeking to advance their professional skills, knowledge and profile. Applicants will therefore need to show the following:

- ✓ have been working in the TV industry for no less than 3 years.
- ✓ have substantial writing experience in scripted drama. Examples would include the following:
 - writing credits on a minimum of at least one, produced, episode script within a primetime drama series that has been aired on a main TV channel or streaming platform
 - writers who have already, or recently, been working on writing episodes across a range of non-primetime series or soaps
- ✓ However, writers who have a significant track record in a different medium, such as theatre, radio, books and journalism, will be considered subject to at least one of their references being from a TV industry referee. These writers must recognize that the Exchange will assume a working knowledge of TV drama practices.

Finally, applicants for this Exchange should be open, as well as confident enough, to re-examine and readdress their own creative process in light of the range of practices to be presented by the professionals they will be meeting in Los Angeles.
